

An Immediate News Release on January 26, 2011

The Allan Stone Gallery 113 East 90th Street in New York City (Between Park Ave & Lexington Ave)

Announces an open public invitation to a book presentation and signing on Friday
February 11th from 6:30 to 8:00 PM for:

Dialectical Conversions: Donald Kuspit's Art Criticism
(Liverpool University Press, 2011)
Edited by David Craven and Brian Winkenweder

There will first be a book presentation to Donald Kuspit and then a discussion of the book's contents, which includes essays by two dozen different artists, critics, and art historians from at least ten different countries around the world. The artists whose contributions are published in the book include Anselm Kiefer, April Gornik, Rudolf Baranik, and Georg Baselitz, while the critics and art historians whose essays appear include various prominent figures from Asia, Europe, the US, Latin America, and the Middle East. A reception and book signing will then take place after the book presentation.

