Sec 001   CRN 39279   Fry   MW   11:00-12:15   CTRART 1020

Offered with ARTH 502.001. XL with ANTH 401/501. Archaeological and historic art forms of the Arctic Northwest coast and the eastern woodlands of North America, which includes the Southeast, Eastern Woodlands, Northeast, Subarctic, Arctic, Northwest Coast, and California.

ARTH 411                    Pre-Columbian Art: Mesoamerica

Sec 001   CRN 39280   Jackson   TR   9:30-10:45   CTRART 1020

Offered with ARTH 511.001. This course is an introduction to the major artistic traditions of ancient Mesoamerica and the issues that surround their discovery and interpretation. Students will learn to recognize specific artworks produced by Aztec, Maya, Olmec and others. No pre-requisites required.

ARTH 426                    20th-Century Photography

Sec 001   CRN 61991   Mulhearn   TR   2:00-3:15   CTRART 1020

Offered with ARTH 526.001. This course will offer an in-depth study of key historical, critical, and theoretical issues in photographic visual culture from the beginning of the 20th century to the present. In addition to various aesthetic and historical movements in photography over the course of the century, topics to be covered include: photography and commerce, stylistic and ethical approaches to photojournalism, photography and the politics of the museum, vernacular photography, photography on film, and the influence of digital technology on the medium. This is an upper division class and therefore reading and writing intensive. Students must have completed at least one previous art history class.

ARTH 429                    Topics: Contemporary Theories of Sculpture

Sec 001   CRN 39286   Lumpkin   W   4:30-7:15 pm   CTRART 1019

Offered with ARTH 529.001. This seminar addresses the theoretical aspects of contemporary artworks formed in three-dimensions, with particular reference to ideas regarding aesthetic status. The focus is on the anti-phenomenological sculptural styles that emerged the 1980s and 1990s to counter the tenets of Minimalist sculpture, and on younger artists who presently are formulating new perceptual codes by reaching back to traditions associated with antiquity and the Modern period. Sculptors discussed include Allan McCollum, Charles Ray, Katharina Fritsch, Franz West, Ugo Rondinone, Gary Hume, Jim Isermann, Tom Sachs, Urs Fischer, Josiah McElheny, Zhan Wang, Nathan Mabry, Rebecca Warren, Lisa Lapinski, Don Brown, Jeff Ono, Venske & Spanle, J. B. Blunk, Frances Uprichard, and others. Readings for the class include statements by artists and essays by art theorists of various historical periods that illuminate the changes in sculptural practices taking place today. Students are expected to demonstrate mastery of the readings, participate in classroom discussions, and produce either a paper on a contemporary sculpture topic or create a sculpture project with an accompanying written description of intentions. Students should come into the class with a solid foundation in Modern art history. Familiarity with late 20th-century and 21st-century art is recommended. Attendance is required.

ARTH 429                    Cities & Literature: Urban Change and Urban Narratives in Contemporary Europe

Sec 002   CRN 62898   Bastea   T   2:00-4:30   PEARL 210

Offered with ARTH 529.002, ARCH 462/562.006 and INTS 499.001.

What is the impact of buildings on literature, and what is the impact of literature on buildings? What happens when the built environment is drastically altered? How does memory mediate between what used to be there and what replaced it? We will examine some of the following cities: London, Paris, Berlin, Istanbul, Thessaloniki, and others, per students' interests. Requirements: 1. One 8-10 pp paper for undergrads; 12-15 pp paper for grads (or visual project of equivalent depth) focusing on the urban history and literature of a specific city; 2. Frequent short essays, some impromptu; and 3. An oral presentation of your project. Questions? Please email Professor Bastéa : ebastea@unm.edu

ARTH 450                    Introduction to Ibero-American Colonial Arts and Architecture

Sec 001   CRN 61993   Hernández-Durán   TR   11:00-12:15   CTRART 1020

Offered with ARTH 550.001. This course is an introductory survey of colonial art production in the Americas from 1496, when the first Iberian city was founded in the Western Hemisphere through the mid-nineteenth century when various viceregal territories began to declare independence from Spain. We will cover a wide range of cultural production, including urban planning, architecture, manuscripts, maps, painting, prints, sculpture, ephemera, and decorative arts, such as furniture, ceramics, and textiles. We will examine art production in relation to larger contextual variables such as patronage, politics, artistic practice, and sites of display, as well to other expressive forms, such as literature, music, dance, and theater. Gender, race, class, sexuality, etc., may also be considered when relevant. Although the main focus of the class will be New Spain, we may look at art from other regions, such as the Caribbean, Peru, Central America, and the Philippines, for comparative purposes. Course requirements include the following: a midterm exam, a final exam, and two papers. Attendance and participation in class discussion will also be noted. There will be three required texts and a reader.

 Sec 001   CRN 61997   Lumpkin            MW   2:00-3:15                    CTRART 1020
 Offered with ARTH 591.001. This lecture class surveys the most prominent artists to achieve international recognition since 1990. Special attention is given to the ideas and critical assessments that inform the production and understanding of the artworks. The artists presented currently dominate what is considered to be the "contemporary art scene." Their works have been featured in exhibitions held in major art museums or important galleries of contemporary art, and have received attention from respected art critics. The course begins with the painters who emerged in the late 1980s and exerted considerable influence in the 1990s, including Peter Halley and Lari Pittman, and artists who defined the direction of sculpture in the 1990s, including Anish Kapoor, Jeff Koons, Charles Ray, Katharina Fritsch, and Robert Gober. We then look closely at the leading YBAs (Young British Artists), who emerged suddenly and controversially in the 1990s, among them Damien Hirst, Tracey Emin, Jake and Dinos Chapman, and Rachel Whiteread. The discussion of growth in the internationalization of contemporary art that took place in 1990s and 2000s focuses in particular on Asian artists, including Takashi Murakami and Cai Guo-Qiang. The topic of new attitudes toward gender and ethnicity that emerged in the 1990s centers on the works of Elizabeth Peyton, Kara Walker, and Lisa Yuskavage, and that of the Düsseldorf School of Photography focuses on the innovations of Andreas Gursky and Thomas Demand. Matthew Barney, Olafur Eliasson, and Josiah McElheny are among other leading artists featured. The course ends with artists who very recently have gained international attention, such as Aaron Curry, Thomas Houseago, Nathan Mabry, and Adrián Villar Rojas. Assigned readings consist of catalogue essays, critical reviews and interviews compiled by the professor. Students are expected to identify key works of art and demonstrate familiarity with related discourse in a mid-term and final exam, and to produce a term paper focused on a single work of art. Attendance is required.
- ARTH 500                    Philosophy & Methods of Art History
 Sec 001   CRN 55301   Buick            W   11:30-2:15                    CTRART 1018
 In this introductory seminar, we will review select historiographic sources to both familiarize the students with the development of the discipline and provide a foundation for an examination of some of the main theoretical and methodological frameworks in art history from the nineteenth century through today. Art historians in the department will enhance class discussions by giving guest lectures, as a way of introducing students to art history faculty and providing examples of the application of the kinds of things we will be reading. Students will be required to lead discussions of reading assignments at each session, write four papers, and give four presentations in class. This seminar is required for all entering art history graduate students. Anyone else who wishes to register must have the instructor's permission. No exceptions.
