FALL 2020  |  ART HISTORY

DEPARTMENT OF ART

College of Fine Arts
University of New Mexico
The Art Department offers BFA, BA and BAIA undergraduate degrees in Studio Art, the BA and a Post Baccalaureate Licensure in Art Education and a BA in Art History. The MFA degree is offered in Studio; an MA can be pursued in Art Education; and the MA and PhD degrees are possible in Art History. In all of the work leading to these degrees, the importance of the arts as communication, in the past, the present and the future, is pivotal. This belief is the keystone of our programs, and it is the foundation for our primary goal, which is to expose students to the richness of art through a wide range of new and traditional media. We also seek to develop critical thought in our classes, and the practice and methods for understanding the teaching of the arts and the history of art.

The Department is dedicated to providing the best education possible no matter what degree a student might be pursuing. The Department is dedicated to benefiting UNM, the city of Albuquerque, the state of New Mexico, as well as national, and international communities. To achieve these aims, the Department is committed to maintaining a world-class faculty that is actively engaged in creative art, art education, and art history.

ART STUDIO

The Arita Porcelain Vessels Program introduces UNM students to traditional creative processes from Arita, Japan that have evolved over the past 400 years. Students practice ‘art as a way, not a thing’ resulting in layers of creative practice within each porcelain form. This handmade ‘true porcelain’ is the most durable ceramic, with glaze colors becoming brilliant and translucent after the firing. Students create functional works reflecting a unique aesthetic from this time and place, with the connection to a living art.

ART & ECOLOGY

Art & Ecology is an interdisciplinary, research-based program engaging contemporary art practices. Graduate & undergraduate students develop land and cultural literacy with a conceptual foundation and a wide range of production skills, including sculpture, performance, analog & digital media, & social practice. Advanced coursework includes the Land Arts of the American West Program, a semester-long travel & place-based arts pedagogy. Students in Art & Ecology have the opportunity to work on various collaborative & interdisciplinary projects with departments across UNM & on comprehensive thesis projects integrating community, ecological, and aesthetic research.

CERAMICS

Ceramics at the University of New Mexico supports the development of diverse personal visions, ranging from utilitarian pottery, vessels, objects, sculpture and installations, to site-specific works and community-based, art-as-social initiatives. Special emphasis is provided in the time-honored traditions of Pueblo Pottery.

EXPERIMENTAL ART + TECHNOLOGY

Experimental Art & Technology at UNM is an interdisciplinary experimental program within the Department of Art. The program fosters an atmosphere of radical creativity & thoughtful engagement with emergent & established technologies. Students are expected to make work that comments on, engages with, & expands our notions of what technology based art can be through courses that explore high tech immersive environments alongside consumer electronic hacking & simple analog circuit building. Labs are equipped with industry standard software as well as free open source analogous software options. Studio production is coupled with critical inquiry into the relationship between art, technology, politics, society and culture.

FOUNDATIONS

Foundations interdisciplinary curriculum is structured around thematic units, introducing students to the conceptual issues that all artists must consider. In each of these units, studio assignments and readings are designed to expand students’ understanding of fundamental ideas by exploring new and unexpected approaches. These themes include light, frame, mark, motive, change, and time.

GRAPHIC DESIGN CONCENTRATION

UNM Art’s Graphic Design concentration provides students with an opportunity to expand upon their fine art studio practice through the integration of design thinking, visual communication, and commercial application.

PAINTING AND DRAWING

The Painting & Drawing area’s reputation is founded upon its deep commitment to personal expression, experimentation, & risk taking, while remaining rooted in the fundamental understanding that painting & drawing are unique in their history & methodology. Painting & Drawing at UNM has a long & important history in American Art, including both faculty & alumni. During the 20th century, artists such as Raymond Jonson, Florence Miller Pierce and the artists making up the Transcendentalist Painting Group were deeply connected to UNM, & artists like Richard Diebenkorn & Agnes Martin have been associated with the school. Close connection to Native American & Hispanic fine arts traditions energizes the European traditions of into the 21st century.

PRINTMAKING

Printmaking is the historical frame through which all artistic media are still referenced. The UNM Printmaking Area has a strong national reputation & attracts many students to both its undergrad and grad programs. Many of our former grad Printmaking students are now teaching in various universities & leading contemporary Printmaking into the next generation. The Printmaking Area has offered over one hundred community outreach projects and has collaborated with many different groups, including public schools and non-profit organizations, both nationally and internationally. There is a large group of printmakers in the Southwest and the UNM Printmaking Area serves an important leadership role to this group.
PHOTOGRAPHY
The University of New Mexico’s photography program was one of the first MFA programs in photography in the country, awarding its first degrees in 1968. Under the direction of Clinton Adams, who served as the Dean of the College of Fine Arts from 1961-1976, the photography studio art and history of photography programs began to take shape at both the undergraduate and graduate level during the 1960s. The University Art Museum’s collection of photographs grew substantially under the leadership of Van Deren Coke, who was hired to be the chair of the Art department and the first director of the museum in 1962; the museum now maintains one of the most significant collections of photographs housed at a public university in this country. Beaumont Newhall, photo historian and author of the seminal textbook The History of Photography, was hired in 1971, and contributed significantly to the development of the graduate program in the history of photography.

SCULPTURE
The sculpture programs at UNM offer an exciting and diverse choice of approaches toward working three-dimensionally. Options include techniques in woodworking, metal fabrication and casting. Additive and subtractive processes in hard and soft materials as well as innovative approaches to installations and site-specific works are also included in our curriculum.

SMALL-SCALE METAL CONSTRUCTION AND CASTING is offered at all undergraduate levels each semester. Levels I and II are devoted primarily to fabrication/construction processes in silver, copper, and brass. Included are such techniques as soldering, forming, coloring, and various finishing processes. Level III concentrates on lost wax casting in bronze. Lectures and demonstrations on brazing may also be offered. At the advanced level, the student essentially writes his/her own program through discussions with the instructor. Emphasis is on form generation as it relates to intimate scale.

ART EDUCATION
The Art Education Program prepares art education professionals to meet the needs of diverse populations in schools and community-based centers in the state and nation. The undergraduate and graduate art teaching programs educate students toward becoming reflective art professionals who can encourage students and clients to create their own artwork in response to their life experiences in our visually complex society. In addition, as future teachers students learn how to teach about art in varied cultural contexts using best teaching practices.

ART HISTORY
The art history program emphasizes the study of visual art as a means of understanding the intellectual and cultural history of humanity. The program provides a firm grounding in global art history within the context of a liberal arts education. Undergraduate work covers the broad range of art history leading towards graduate work for the M.A. and the Ph.D. degrees, organized into two major concentrations: Art History and Arts of the Americas. The curriculum in each area of concentration is nationally and internationally recognized.

Art History Concentration - The concentration in Art History encompasses the entire field of art historical studies and is grounded in a cultural analysis of artistic expression. A broad variety of objects are explored, ranging from the traditional fine arts to popular and innovative media. Such contextual approach and wide-ranging theoretical frameworks together with more traditional studies of style, iconography, and medium, illuminate the visual arts within the intellectual and cultural history of humanity.

Art of the Americas Concentration - Arts of the Americas brings together the arts of pre- and post-contact cultures of North, Central, and South America. Integral fields of specialization include Meso-American, Central and South American art, architecture and performance arts, ancient and modern Native American arts, Spanish Colonial art and architecture, and nineteenth through twenty-first century Latin American arts. This concentration promotes the study of continuity and discontinuity in the history of art and architecture in the Americas.
All Art History courses have a $52.50 fee.

ARTH 2130 Modern Art
- Sec 001 CRN 64019 Lumpkin MW 11:00-12:15 Remote Scheduled*

(Formally ARTH 250) *This class will meet remotely/online during the set class time. This course is an overview of Modern Art in a global context, considering Africa, Asia, Europe, Latin America, and Indigenous modernisms. By considering debates on modernism in their specific geopolitical contexts and around the world, the course will explore artists, art movements, debates, and theoretical positions of the modern era. Thus, challenging any one hegemonic account of modernism, and rejecting its center/periphery model, this course will instead engage with experiences of modernity from multiple perspectives. Students will engage in discussions on transcultural interchanges, nationalism, and postcolonial perspectives towards an understanding of global modernisms in art history.

- Sec 001 CRN 39279 Fry MW 11:00-12:15 Remote Scheduled*

Offered with ARTH 502.001, XL with ARTH 401/501. *This class will meet remotely/online during the set class time. This course is the first half of a two-semester survey of historic and "traditional" Native American/Fist Nations art of North America. In this semester, we will examine a wide range of arts and architecture from the Eastern Woodlands, Great Lakes, Arctic and Sub-arctic, Northwest Coast, and California, from the archaeological past to the present. (The second semester, Native American Art II, deals with the Great Plains and Prairie, Plateau, Great Basin, and Southwest regions.) Certain themes will run throughout the course: discussions of indigenous epistemologies and aesthetic systems, the meanings and functions of art in Native societies, the limits of extant art historical and other scholarly approaches to Native visual cultures, and the myriad issues arising from intercultural contact and conflict.
ARTH 411  Pre-Columbian Art: Mesoamerica
Sec 001  CRN 61989  Jackson  TR  9:30-10:45  Remote Scheduled*
Offered with ARTH 511.001, X with ANTH 420/570. *This class will meet remotely/online during the set class time. This course is an introduction to the major artistic traditions of ancient Mesoamerica and the issues that surround their discovery and interpretation. Students will learn to recognize specific artworks produced by Aztec, Maya, Olmec and others. No pre-requisites required.

ARTH 416  Southwestern Native Ceramics
Sec 001  CRN 69339  Fry  MW  9:30-10:45  Remote Scheduled*
Offered with ARTH 516.001. *This class will meet remotely/online during the set class time. This course examines Native Southwestern ceramics from the archaeological past to the present. Regional developments, changes in ceramics made for internal use and for outside sale, as well as issues of the contemporary market are investigated.

ARTH 420  History of Prints I

Offered with ARTH 520.001. *This class will meet remotely/online during the set class time. The course studies the history of European prints from its inception in the early 15th century to its technical perfection and market success in the 18th century. Printmaking will be discussed in the context of the emerging print culture, of social and political developments, as well as aesthetic debates. We examine original works of art in print collections at the University Art Museum and the UNM Center for Southwest Research and Special Collections.

ARTH 425  19th-Century Photography
Sec 001  CRN 69343  Mulhearn  TR  12:30-1:45  Remote Scheduled*
Offered with ARTH 525.001. *This class will meet remotely/online during the set class time. This course will offer an in-depth study of key historical, critical, and theoretical issues in photographic visual culture from the beginning of the 20th century to the present. In addition to various aesthetic and historical movements in photography over the course of the century, topics to be covered include: photography and commerce, stylistic and ethical approaches to photojournalism, photography and the politics of the museum, vernacular photography, photography on film, and the influence of digital technology on the medium. This is an upper division class and therefore reading and writing intensive. Students must have completed at least one previous art history class.

ARTH 429  Topics: Contemporary Theories of Design
Sec 001  CRN 60260  Lumpkin  MW  2:00-3:15  Remote Scheduled*
Offered with ARTH 529.001. *This class will meet remotely/online during the set class time. This course provides an in-depth introduction to the theoretical concepts of today’s most prominent designers of domestic furnishings, and reveals the ways each of the individual concepts derive from the history of aesthetic ideas related to the products of industrial labor.

ARTH 429  Topics: Arts of New Spain in the Hapsburg Period (1521-1700)
Sec 002  CRN 65814  Hernández-Durán  TR  11:00-12:15  Remote Scheduled*
Offered with ARTH 529.002. *This class will meet remotely/online during the set class time. This course is an introduction to the visual arts of the Spanish territories in the Americas with a focus on the Viceroyalty of New Spain from 1521 through 1700. This course will begin in the Caribbean following Columbus’ arrival in 1492 and continue with the so-called Conquest of Mexico in 1521 through 1700; a period of approximately 179 years marked by the reign of the Austrian Hapsburgs in Spain and its ultra-Atlantic territories. The course is organized along 4 major themes: Early Missionary Culture and Colonial Indigeneity, Foundation of the Viceroyalty and Viceregal Society, Transpacific Trade and Transculturation, and Painters and Painting in 17th-century Mexico City. Discussions will include the Hapsburg monarchy and its politics; the formation of the Council of the Indies and the establishment of the viceregal system in 1535; urban planning and architectural construction in Mexico City and the first generation of painters in the imperial capital; the incorporation of the Philippines into the political sphere of New Spain; and painters working in Mexico City in the 17th century, and the issues and practices surrounding painting. Although there are no pre-requisites, it is preferable that a student have had at least one prior art history class before enrolling in this course.

ARTH 429  Topics: Arts of West and Central African Empires (1500-1897)
Sec 003  CRN 65816  Hernández-Durán  TR  2:00-3:15  Remote Scheduled*
Offered with ARTH 529.003. *This class will meet remotely/online during the set class time. This course will survey the arts produced in the courtly contexts of the empires that dominated regions of West and Central Africa. We will begin with a discussion that addresses, both, the problems with the historiography of African art history and the challenges in the study of so-called African arts. The course will begin in 1500, during the height of Portuguese trade with African coastal kingdoms, and run through 1898, as indigenous imperial governments fell in the face of European colonialism. We will begin in West Africa and look at various kingdoms, including Benin, the Yoruba, Dahomey, and the Asante. We will move to Central Africa and study the Kongo and the Kuba. We will discuss architecture, sculpture, ritual accoutrements, metalwork, clothing, body art, and other visual forms, as dictated by each imperial case, in relation to performance, politics, social norms, memory, and religious belief. We will also consider exchanges between various African cultural groups and the influence of European contact. We will talk about language, music, dance, and song, as required to understand the form, meaning, and function of various art forms. Although there are no pre-requisites, it is preferable that a student have had at least one prior art history class before enrolling in this course.
ART 429
Topics: Art History: Critical Frameworks for Contemporary Native Art Theory
Sec 004   CRN 65818 Ernest   MW 11:00-12:15 Remote Scheduled*
Offered with ARTH 529.004. This class will meet remotely/online during the set class time. This lecture course focuses on a survey of theories and issues that have shaped the analysis of contemporary Native art. Through a lens of Indigenous visual culture, the course examines how we "read" images as a visual language and what influences our ways of seeing and hearing indigeneity, including aesthetics, ideology, race, sexuality and gender.

Seminar: Patronizing Women: Taste & Collecting in the 19th and 20th Centuries
Sec 001   CRN 65827 Buick   T 11:00-1:45 Remote Arranged*
This class will meet remotely/online at an arranged time determined by the instructor. This seminar will begin by exploring the history of the idea of “taste” as a “feminine faculty.” A legacy of the Scottish Enlightenment, “taste” connoted (in the words of Lori Merish in Sentimental Materialism) “a particular, expressly feminine, political faculty, associated with female bodily weakness (and, indirectly, with the ‘natural’ emotions of motherhood); not an expression of direct force or enactment of political will (‘power over’ an object), it connotes an act of will that turns against itself, sublimating ‘power over’ direct use of an object into the imperative to ‘care for’ or preserve it.” As a class, we will focus on four American women whose “taste” and collecting (care for and preservation of art objects) helped to shape and to define the aesthetics of European and U.S. modernism from the nineteenth century to the present; Louise Havemeyer, Mabel Dodge Luhan, Gertrude Stein, and Peggy Guggenheim. Dividing our examination of them into roughly four-week segments, we will read the autobiographies of each woman, examine museum publications that feature their collections, and analyze scholarly articles and books written about them. Given the normalization of “taste” as “feminine,” we will investigate how these women used this construct as an agent for risk, change, and power. Restriction: Permission of Instructor.
